COURSE OUTLINE

This program will provide an interactive discussion and instruction by our distinguished panel of jurists on the importance of professionalism and civility within the legal profession and on how the courts and the bar can develop, promote, and maintain professionalism and civility within the legal system. It will include discussion and instruction on:

- The role which judges can and should play in developing and maintaining professionalism and civility within the legal profession and how the bar can assist judges in that role
- How the courts and the bar can promote respect for the courts and the rule of law
- How attorneys and judges can maintain professionalism and civility through engagement in bar groups and bar activities and civic engagement
- How attorneys can maintain professionalism and civility in a world of emails, texts, social media, and instant messaging
- How attorneys and the courts must adapt in continuing to maintain professionalism and civility within a remote and virtual working environment
- How attorneys and judges can maintain professionalism and civility within an arena full of differing cultures, personalities, egos, gender identities, and political views
- How attorneys and judges can maintain professionalism and civility in difficult litigation and business matters with difficult clients and difficult adversaries or business partners
- How attorneys and judges can maintain professionalism and civility when dealing with multiple generations (Boomers, Xers, Millenials, and Zers) and promote professionalism and civility through mentoring new and young attorneys
